Subject: Re: Craig Kelly's Domestic COVID Vaccine Passports Bill 2021

Dear Ms Sharkie

The shadow of a 'vaccination apartheid' is looming over Australia, threatening to cause division and unrest in our society – within families, in the workplace, across every facet of our lives.

I appreciate the prompt reply from your Legislation and Policy Advisor, Sue Rudall. I would like to respond to a few of the points raised.

Ms Rudall states:

'Rebekha agrees that nobody should need a passport to travel between states and territories. She also notes that there is no legislation before the Federal Parliament (on which she has a vote as a Member of the House of Representatives) to create or require such a passport.'

I am aware that there is no legislation before the Federal Parliament for a vaccine passport. However, using such a narrow interpretation of a 'vaccine passport' is short sighted when considering this issue. People can be forced to take a vaccine through coercion – this is mandatory by another name – and you do not need a 'vaccine passport' law for this to occur.

Much of Mr Kelly's 'No Domestic COVID Vaccine Passports Bill 2021' is concerned with preventing discrimination against people on the grounds of their vaccination status. A vaccine passport in this bill is defined as:

'COVID vaccine passport means a vaccine passport, vaccine certificate, vaccine pass or other standardised documentation (including documentation in electronic form) issued for the purposes of certifying to a third party when an individual has received a COVID vaccination.'^[1]

As I stated in my email, I do not want to see the creation of a two-tiered society in Australia, based on vaccination status. Coercing people to take a vaccine makes a mockery of informed consent and violates the right to bodily integrity.^[2] The Australian Immunisation Handbook states that for consent to be valid it 'must be given voluntarily in the absence of undue pressure, coercion or manipulation.'^[3] Coercion to take a medical intervention is a breach of medical ethics and of fundamental human rights. This is well recognised across a range of international conventions and guidelines.^{[4] [5] [6] [7]}

This is why I am asking you to support Mr Kelly's bill, Ms Sharkie.

The situation is particularly concerning given that the clinical trials for these experimental injections were accelerated, and they are still ongoing. This fact was acknowledged by Minister for Health and Aged Care, Greg Hunt, who stated:

'We're engaged in the world's largest ever vaccination rollout and, at the same time, effectively, clinical trial. We will learn more; we're already learning more.'^[8]

No long-term safety data is available for these products; many doctors and scientist have expressed concerns about their safety.^{[9] [10] [11]}

The number of adverse events being reported across the globe is troubling, especially as these injections are being given to pregnant women, children and young people.^{[12] [13] [14]} For example, a significant number of young people have developed myocarditis after injection^[15] – yet in Australia these experimental medical products have been given provisional approval for children from the age of sixteen.^[16]

I wonder if Australian citizens are fully cognizant of these facts? If not, they cannot give valid informed consent.^[17] The media pressure upon citizens to take these medical products is immense. We are being told they are 'safe' by governments and health officials. Given the lack of data, this is misleading at best, and a downright lie at worst. If concerns regarding safety are unfounded, then the Federal Government must provide the scientific evidence that supports this. The onus is on the Government to prove that the benefits outweigh the risks for each individual.

As there are many conflicts of interests in the world of vaccination, any evidence must be independent of influence by the pharmaceutical industry. If you are unaware of these serious conflicts of interests, see Elizabeth Hart's extensive work on this matter;^{[18] [19]} including her presentation Big Pharma's hijacking of 'over'-vaccination policy - Conflicts of interest and lack of transparency and accountability at the 2018 Sydney Vaccination Conference.^{[20] [21]} The economic power and global influence of this industry cannot be denied.

If Australian citizens will be absolutely free to make their own choices regarding vaccination for COVID-19, then why is there a need for a digital COVID-19 certificate as proof of vaccination?^[22] Ms Sharkie, can you advise me what the rationale for this documentation is, if it is not intended to categorise our society into 'vaxxed' and 'unvaxxed'? As I am sure you are aware, history provides many tragic examples of people being divided into such arbitrary categories for political purposes, and it never ends well.

As Elizabeth Hart points out, most people are not at risk from COVID-19. This has been known since February 2020. Early data showed who was most vulnerable to COVID-19 – the elderly and people with significant underlying health issues.^{[23] [24]} The UK Government stated on 19 March 2020 that COVID-19 was not a high consequence infectious disease.^[25] A bulletin published by the World Health Organization in October 2020 suggests an infection fatality rate of 0.05% in the under 70s.^[26] For children, the risk from COVID-19 is miniscule, and is lower than for influenza.^{[27] [28]}

Therefore, why is the Prime Minister pushing to vaccinate the entire Australian population with an experimental medical product, when most people are not at risk?^[29] Why are we allowing healthy Australians, particularly children, to be subjected to this risk, when they are not at risk of the disease itself? This is clearly unethical.

In her email, Ms Rudall emphasises the fact that the Government has a majority in Federal Parliament, and consequently it controls the house. Ms Rudall also advises me that only 5% of Private Members' Bills are passed into law; she suggests that because you are an independent MP, I should be contacting the Prime Minister regarding Mr Kelly's bill. Is Ms Rudall trying to tell me that you are completely politically powerless in this situation, Ms Sharkie? If this really is the case, then I see little point in voting for you at the next election.

I note that the likely failure of Private Members' Bills did not stop you from publicly supporting Zali Steggall's Climate Change (National Framework for Adaptation and Mitigation) Bill 2020.^[50] Can you enlighten me as to why Mr Kelly's bill is any less worthy of your support?

Given the seriousness of this situation, merely stating that you are against 'mandatory vaccination' is not enough. I would also like to know the answer to the following questions:

- Are you against all forms of discrimination on the grounds of vaccination status as described in Mr Kelly's bill?
- Do you believe in valid informed consent?
- Will you stand against all forms of vaccine coercion in Australia?
- Do you support Mr Kelly's bill in principle, and if so, why aren't you supporting him publicly?

One thing is certain – if Mr Kelly is not supported, then his courageous battle will be much harder. We all know this is how the game of politics works.

As Elizabeth Hart states in her email, Mr Kelly is one of the few elected representatives who is fulfilling his duty. Without the likes of Mr Kelly, Australians may be facing a vastly different future; a future where fundamental human rights have been negligently eroded by politicians, and Australia is no longer the land of the free.

Ms Sharkie are you willing to stand up for our rights, or are you just a compliant bystander?

Kind regards
Emma McArthur

Dear Ms Sharkie, I wholeheartedly second Emma McArthur's support for Craig Kelly's 'No Domestic COVID Vaccine Passports Bill 2021', we must have public debate on this matter.

Craig Kelly is one of only a handful of peoples' elected representatives in Australia who are actually fulfilling their duty at this time, i.e. working in the best interests of the people who elected them, particularly in regards to comprehending the serious threat to Australians' liberty by the Morrison and State Governments' handling of the covid situation.

I wish Craig Kelly represented me. I feel disenfranchised in my Federal and State electorates of Sturt and Bragg, with James Stevens and Vicki Chapman completely ignoring information I have brought to their attention regarding the grossly disproportionate and ill-targeted response to SARS-CoV-2/covid-19, including that Australians are being pressed to have covid-19 injections without properly giving their informed consent to these medical interventions, see for example my email to the Medical Board of Australia, AHPRA (the regulator of health practitioners), and doctors' organisations: Coercive covid-19 injections in Australia, 8 June 2021.

Under extremely sinister Federal and State 'emergency laws', Australians have essentially lost their rights, with lockdowns, border closures, masking, quarantining of healthy people, and surveillance with QR codes now being imposed in response to a virus it has long been acknowledged is not a serious threat to most people, i.e. a recent estimate of the global infection fatality rate for covid-19 is 0.15 per cent, [1] which is comparable to influenza.

It appears the gross fear-mongering about this virus from unelected 'medical experts', politicians and the media, is all about making the entire population submit to a lifetime of covid injections...against a virus which isn't a serious threat to most people. Are the Morrison and State Governments working in the best interests of the people, or of the vaccine industry, which notably has protection from liability for its covid injections. [2]

Ms Sharkie, I'm seeking accountability for the astonishing handling of the global SARS-CoV-2/covid-19 situation, with my emails to those who are accountable being published on my website, see: <https://vaccinationispolitical.net/>

My rapid responses published on The BMJ (aka The British Medical Journal) are also hyperlinked on this website, see: <https://vaccinationispolitical.net/more-correspondence/>

See for example my BMJ rapid response: Five years imprisonment and/or a \$66,600 fine for refusing coronavirus vaccination? 30 October 2020.

This shocking penalty is included in the Australian Biosecurity Act 2015 - how on earth did politicians approve such a draconian penalty against the Australian people?

Ms Sharkie, it's about time you and your colleagues stepped up to the plate and addressed what Emma McArthur rightly describes as "the terrifying power shift that is occurring in the relationship between state and citizens". As Emma says, "A grotesque loss of civil and political rights is underway, with little resistance from politicians such as yourself...it's happening on your watch".

How can you stand by and let our hard fought for liberal democracy be destroyed?

Ms Sharkie, please step up and support Mr Kelly and his 'No Domestic COVID Vaccine Passports Bill 2021', and request your parliamentary colleagues do likewise.

Sincerely

Elizabeth Hart

Dear Ms Sharkie

Craig Kelly recently introduced his 'No Domestic COVID Vaccine Passports Bill 2021'.

As my representative in the Federal Parliament, I expect you to support the progression of this Bill, so it is debated and voted on without delay.

Attaching fundamental freedoms to any vaccination – let alone new vaccines still under clinical trial, with no long-term safety data – is discriminatory, morally abhorrent and a breach of human rights.

The response to COVID-19 has been a catastrophic disaster. Like many governments across the globe, the Morrison Government failed to follow its own pandemic plan (I shall be writing to you soon regarding this important issue - see my article on the UK context for some background).

As a result of this failure, the rights of Australian citizens are being eroded, and the Australian Constitution has been rendered meaningless. This illiberal and authoritarian Morrison government needs to be stopped.

The Morrison Government has severely undermined the democratic traditions of our country – aided and abetted by a weak opposition, ineffectual minor parties and independent MPs. The creation of a two-tier society based on vaccination status, is another example of the terrifying power shift that is occurring in the relationship between state and citizens. A grotesque loss of civil and political rights is underway, with little resistance from politicians such as yourself, Ms Sharkie. It is happening on your watch.....

Mr Kelly is a rare and notable exception in this battle. I expect you to wholeheartedly support him on my behalf. Perhaps if people started listening to what he has to say, as opposed to slandering him, they may learn something important:
